STUDIES:

Original paperbacks, they are widely adopted as supplements to texts whenever the larger books lack depth or detail, and as special reading assignments when the text omits important developments or significant aspects of the subject. Studies are also used as the core reading list by instructors who choose to do without a text.

THE MODERN LIBRARY:

The Modern Library, always a rich source of inexpensive clothbound editions, continues to offer both the classics and outstanding contemporary works. New titles by Philip Roth, Thomas Pynchon, and Joseph Heller attest to the vitality of this collection.

MODERN LIBRARY COLLEGE EDITIONS:

Selected paperbound editions of Modern Library titles most frequently used in college courses, the College Editions are published with the highest standards of textual reliability and include stimulating introductions by eminent scholars and critics.

VINTAGE BOOKS:

Long known as essential reading in the social sciences and humanities, Vintage Books include both original works and reprints of important recent writing.

BORZOI BOOKS ON LATIN AMERICA:

An interdisciplinary series of paperbound works, both originals and reprints of classics, under the general editorship of Lewis Hanke of Columbia University. Taken together, the collection constitutes a library of challenging, informative volumes on contemporary issues of Latin American society and historical aspects of Latin American culture.

Special note:

Examination copies of these books may be ordered for adoption consideration. When you write, please remember to include the code number for each title, in addition to your name, academic affiliation, course title and estimated class enrollment.

Index, illustrations
The province of this monumental work in four volumes is the artistic production of the Western world and of contingent cultures as that of Egypt and Mesopotamia; its range in time is from prehistoric man to the modern era of the film; its theme is art as the expression and formal reflection of the ideas and aspirations of the societies that have produced it. These societies are seen against their historical background, and the individual natures of the great artists are perceptively analyzed.
